November Conference Will Help Answer Businesses' Environmental Regulation Questions

Ohio EPA will host the sixth Compliance Assistance Conference on Nov. 7-8, 2011, which will be held at the Crowne Plaza North, in Columbus, to help businesses, non-profits and municipalities keep on top of environmental regulations. The conference cost is $125.

Organizations will gain valuable information and contacts to help with environmental compliance responsibilities. Past attendees have provided positive feedback about the conference and those comments were considered in developing this year's agenda.

A large part of the conference remains targeted to small and medium-sized businesses and others who need to know the basics about environmental compliance. However, this year's expanded agenda includes more advanced topics, such as New Source Review (NSR) for air emissions sources, Title V permits and reporting.

Some of the topics include:

- air permitting basics and reporting;
- preparing for an Ohio EPA inspection;
- hazardous waste requirements overview;
- used oil and SPCC requirements;
- reporting when things go wrong;
- solid waste basics;
- wastewater discharge permits and new electronic (e-DMR) reporting;
- Ohio EPA's new expedited enforcement policy; and
- storm water and wetland requirements for construction.

On Nov. 8, there will be an "Ask the Experts" session for participants to ask Ohio EPA technical experts questions related to their air, waste and water compliance requirements.

Registration is available on the web.
